Slam dunk mobile basketball game ios download

Small, browser-based mini-games that, however, bring an intense, multiplayer rush, .io games have been the viral phenomenon popular with twitch streamers and their presence in an episode of House of Cards. The .io extension means the British Indian Ocean Territory, but since Agar.io, one of the first super-popular multiplayer games .io games, used the extension, it has since become a popular choice that gives a name to the genre. Lightweight and accessible, but capable of intense and sometimes even ruthless gaming, the best .io games can be played even with spotted connection and old hardware. With only a number of .io games out there, it can be hard to figure out which ones are worth a shot, so we've collected a list of the top 10 .io games. Agar.io(Photo credit: agar.io)The great grandfather of all of them, Agar.io is to eat or eat game cell survival takes inspiration from the behavior of microbes on top of the agar medium petri dish, he heeds the name. Players start small, zip around the map and eat food to get the size. Eventually, you grow big enough to swallow other player cells, leading to a deadly cat-and-mouse game as you try to lure other cells into your grasses and avoid larger swarms of players who can swallow you. The simple but tense gameplay made it a viral sensation as it was even featured in an episode of House of Cards. Slither.io(Image credit: Slither.io)Slither.io takes inspiration from the classic snake game as players slither around the map, consuming food topics to grow in size and score. Maneuver is the name of the game here because players are eliminated when their snake head collides with the body of another snake, leading players to suddenly change direction or wriggle around into a trap and remove the careless. (Photo credit: Diep.io) Diep.io is another classic game, this time with players guiding tanks, destroying barriers and enemy tanks to collect points and level their own planes. With a reasonably included upgrade system, you can equip your tanks to your liking, allowing you to build bullet summer monsters, agile invaders or powerful snipers. Versatile game modes for everyone, from free team fights and more, Diep.io good play value and reasonable depth, but are still a pretty easy-to-use browser game. Gats.io(Image credit: Gats.io)Gats.io takes a military shooter from top to bottom as players choose weapons and armor and then gently hunt each other in a tight maze of obstacles and corridors. Each weapon brings its own advantages and disadvantages, and players must balance the trade in the movement and protection of armor or their lack thereof. Fast gaming and reasonably Gats.io free for everyone, team death match and control point domination modes, giving you a variation in gameplay. Brutal.io(Image credit: Brutal.io)Brutal.io lives up to their name when players crush each other with giant rolled balls of death. Getting started A small morning star-like ball attached to your player, you run around the map to collect food, slowly increasing the size of your death ball, which you can then throw at other players using spin, design and more than a bit of dumb luck. If the throw doesn't get them, then coming back can only because holding down the mouse button invites the deathball back into the player's face, flattening everything in its path. Gartic.io(Photo: Gartic.io)Tired of the kill or killable intensity of other .io games? Gartic.io is a much more relaxed thing when players are alternated in a play-style game where one player draws a named word and others have to guess what that word is. Gartic takes care of scoring and keeping a book, and in language-based game rooms you can play for yourself. Warbot.io(Image credit: Warbot.io)Warbot.io is a bit of an outlier among other .io games in that it has 3D graphics that offer great eye candy, but also slows down download times, especially for those without a quick connection. Warbot is a top-down twin-stick-style shooter with a mouse cursor controlling your goal, while WASD keys control your movement. Players march through the battlefield, attacking other mechas while dodging enemy fire, gathering power and crawling to the scoreboard. Zombs.io(Photo credit: Zombs.io)Zombs.io brings an inevitable zombie survival tour to the genre as players slowly build their bases, establish defenses and wall up choking points, collect resources during the day and fight hordies at night. From there, it's a battle of endurance and survival as you upgrade your towers and personal gear to combat ever tougher waves of the undead. Wings.io(Image credit: Wings.io)Wings.io takes multiplayer mayhem into the sky as players take part in 2D grand melees, their fighter planes rocket around the place, pick up extra power, weapons and engage in twisting dog fights as you try to line up the perfect shot and keep your tail away from enemy fighters. Look elsewhere for a deep simulation because this is a tornado where planes squirm around and engage in a rapidly firing carnage. Deeep.io(Photo: Deeep.io)Deeep.io has made you evolve into different forms of fish and animals as you collect food and explore the depths and shallows of the sea. Each animal form has its own abilities and is optimized for various biomes, giving players a lot of variety as they link up, hunt other deep-sea beasts and explore what the oceans have to offer. You can play Deeep.io aggressively, as with other PVP-style .io games, or you can avoid conflicts and just explore and try out the features of each form, giving you a fair amount of things to play with.
